Some of the pre-meds thought of a great joke to play on one of the nurses. They got into her room and hung a greenish arm from one of the cadavers on her light switch string.

They kind-of forgot about the whole thing until one of them mentioned that they hadn't seen her around for quite a while. They went up to her room and knocked on the door -- no answer. Then they opened it, and there she was -- sitting on the bed with her hair all white -- eating the arm.
